

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a cyclic peptide increasing the fusiogenic capacity of the oocyte arising from the disintegrin loop of fertilin beta, to a pharmaceutical composition
5 comprising said cyclic peptide and to the use thereof, particularly in order to supplement culture media used to carry out in vitro fertilization.